Patsy's is on the list of famous pizzerias in New York that took an early claim to being the best. Patsy's does not claim to have invented "New York" style pizza – they just claim to have perfected it since 1933. They have several locations throughout the city and is one of our favorites when in New York.

All the usual suspects are here - thin crust that crunches every bite, the meld of fresh moz, a light sweet sauce and fresh basil.

No slices here though just full pies.

How good does that look!
